General Summary

Danielle L. Jacobbe, D.O., M.S., M.A., FACOS, is a board certified surgeon. Dr. Jacobbe received her doctorate of osteopathic medicine from the New York Institute of Technology. After her medical education, Dr. Jacobbe started her career as a clinical research coordinator at the Gillette Center for Breast Cancer at Massachusetts General Hospital, where she developed a passion for breast health.

She then completed a residency in general surgery at East End Health Alliance in Riverhead, New York, and a fellowship in breast surgical oncology at Grant Medical Center in Columbus, Ohio. During her fellowship, Dr. Jacobbe developed an interest in integrative medicine and oncoplastic surgery.

Dr. Jacobbe incorporates Reiki and complementary healing therapies into her treatment plans and philosophy of treating the whole patient. She is Hidden Scar certified and attends various national summits and conferences to continue honing her skills in oncoplastic surgery and breast surgical oncology.

In joining Texas Breast Specialists, Dr. Jacobbe looks forward to caring for each patient as an individual and harnessing her unique skillset to provide the best level of surgical care for both breast cancer and benign diseases of the breast.
